Nikon D850

Short Description: The Nikon D850 is a full-frame DSLR engineered for high-resolution stills and 4K video. It combines a 45.7MP BSI CMOS sensor with fast performance and robust build quality — ideal for professional photography, wildlife, studio, and video work.

Detailed Description: The Nikon D850 delivers outstanding image quality with its 45.7-megapixel BSI CMOS sensor and EXPEED 5 image processor, producing exceptional dynamic range and low-noise performance even at higher ISOs. Photographers will appreciate the versatile 153-point autofocus system and fast continuous shooting, which make it excellent for action, wildlife, and sports. Its robust, weather-sealed magnesium alloy body is built for demanding environments, while dual card slots and extended battery life suit long shoots. For videographers, the D850 records 4K UHD video and supports clean HDMI output, external microphones, and advanced time-lapse options. Overall, it's a professional-grade DSLR that balances high resolution, speed, and reliable handling for mixed photo and video workflows.
